

Track Your Child's Learning with Weekly Progress Reports

www.kidsacademy.mobi

As a parent, learning apps can be a convenient way to help our children learn, but how do we know what and how much our kids are learning? At Kids Academy, we want to give you, the parent, a source of meaningful information that will allow you to track their learning while anticipating what comes next.

That's why we're giving parents who subscribe to the Kids Academy app access to new weekly Learning Progress Reports that will keep you informed every step of the way.

Learning Progress reports will help you to:

- Develop a consistent routine: Keeping both parents and children informed on their progress helps everyone to stay on track. Our research shows that using the Kids Academy app for at least fifteen minutes per day will help kids to achieve better learning outcomes.
- Monitor your child's activities: It's important to stay on top of a child's learning. Progress reports will give parents the information they need to understand their child's strengths and weaknesses.
- Remediate learning gaps: Progress reports can let parents know where their children struggle. Use this information to review challenging topics and close any learning gaps.
- Reward your child for a job well done: Celebrate your child's achievements to motivate them to push through tough subjects and tricky assignments.
